

Macro Trends Affecting Spanish and Swiss Securities Markets

Q4 2021

Global economy surpasses its pre pandemic levels leveraged by strong demand with world GDP growing at a 5,9% and 4,9% pace in 2021-22. Nevertheless, uncertainty increases in late 2021 amid a new Covid-19 wave, inflation worries and supply disruptions.

---

Consumer prices in advanced economies escalates to 10-year highs but Central Banks, especially the ECB, will be very cautious about tapering stimulus and interest rates increases considering that prices will moderate in the next few years.

---

Switzerland improves its prospects for economic growth and ease geopolitical tensions. GDP is expected to advance 3,7% and 3% in 2021-22, whilst Government proposes to retake trade talks with the EU.

---

Spain will lead GDP growth among advanced economies in 2021-22 but the recovery towards pre-pandemic levels is being less brilliant than initially expected in 2021 with estimates being cut below 5%. GDP growth in 2022 will rise 6,4% (IMF October WEO).

---

BME Fixed Income lists the first issuance of green bonds from the Spanish Treasury for €5 billion with strong investor appetite for this type of assets. BME Growth market reaches 13 new listings in 2021 until November, with special relevance of the Tech sector.

GLOBAL ECONOMY

Global GDP surpasses its pre-pandemic levels in Q3. IMF expects output to strongly grow at 5,9% and 4,9% in '21-'22 (WEO Oct). Nevertheless, growth for this year is marginally revised down due to inflation worries, supply disruptions and worsening pandemic dynamics.

El PIB mundial supera sus niveles prepandémicos en el 3T. El FMI espera que el PIB global crezca un 5,9% y un 4,9% en '21-'22 (WEO octubre). No obstante, el crecimiento de este año se revisa marginalmente a la baja debido al temor a la inflación, las interrupciones de suministro y al empeoramiento de la pandemia.

Main CBs open the debate to taper stimulus but remain very cautious. US FED leads the way and reduce assets purchases by $15 Bn. monthly since Nov. Furthermore, half of US FOMC participants agreed that the target level of federal funds rates should increase to at least the 0,25%-0,5% range during '22 as long as the economy progresses.

Los principales BCs abren el debate de la retirada de estímulos, aunque se mantienen cautelosos. Asimismo, la mitad de los miembros del FOMC de EE.UU. acordaron que el nivel objetivo de los tipos de los federal funds deben incrementar, al menos, hasta el rango 0,25%-0,5% durante '22 siempre y cuando la economía progrese.

Main financial organizations revise up inflation for the next quarters due to strong demand, supply bottlenecks and commodity price increases, and also express worryness on increasing uncertainty surrounding it. However, these disruptions are expected to fade gradually and inflation expectations in the medium and long term remain in line with historical levels.

Las instituciones financieras alertan de la incertidumbre sobre los precios y revisan al alza la inflación para los próximos trimestres debido a la presión de la demanda, los cuellos de botella de la oferta y el alza de los precios de las materias primas. Sin embargo, se espera que estas interrupciones se desvanezcan gradualmente a la vez que las expectativas de inflación se mantienen en línea con niveles históricos.

40-year record of negative real interest rates pushed by rising inflation, helping to alleviate public and private debts. Main long term bonds yields remain low, although on the rise and with moderate volatility.

Récord de 40 años en los tipos de interés reales negativos impulsados por el aumento de la inflación, lo que ayuda a aliviar los niveles de deuda públicos y privados. Las rentabilidades de los principales bonos a largo plazo se mantienen bajos, aunque en alza y con una volatilidad moderada.

EUROPEAN ECONOMY

Eurozone accelerates growth in the 2nd half of the year powered by France and Italy and to a lesser extent by Germany and Spain. The ECB & the IMF revise GDP growth upwards for 2021 to 5% from 4,6% and keep a 4,3% growth rate for 2022 (IMF Oct. WEO).

La zona euro acelera el crecimiento en el segundo semestre del año impulsada por Francia e Italia y, en menor medida, por Alemania y España. El BCE y el FMI revisan al alza el crecimiento del PIB para 2021 a 5%, desde el 4,6% y mantienen una tasa de crecimiento del 4,3% para 2022 (FMI oct. WEO).

The EC issues its first NextGenerationEU green bond which becomes the world's largest green bond issuance ever. Total amount raised so far goes up to €68,5 bn in '21 with issuances being largely oversubscribed amid strong investors' demand for EC securities.

La CE emite su primer bono verde NextGenerationEU, que se convierte en la emisión de bonos verdes más grande del mundo. La cantidad total recaudada en lo que va de 2021 asciende a €68.500 millones, con las emisiones siendo altamente sobre suscritas en medio de una fuerte demanda por activos de la CE.

The ECB maintains its policy stance and barely lowers the pace of net purchases of its PEPP programme due to an improvement of current economic and financial conditions. At the same time the euro weakens against the US dollar to 15-months lows, which could turn into a tailwind for the recovery of net exports.

El BCE mantiene su posición de política monetaria y apenas reduce el ritmo de compras netas de su programa PEPP debido a la mejora de las condiciones económicas y financieras actuales. Al mismo tiempo, el euro se debilita frente al dólar estadounidense a mínimos de 15 meses, lo que podría suponer un viento de cola para la recuperación de las exportaciones netas.

Inflation in the euro area reach 4,1% in October, its highest level since records began in 1996 amid surging energy prices. Gas price has already tripled in '21, even before the peak-winter demand kicks in. Notwithstanding the above, higher energy prices alone "won't push the ECB to act".

La inflación en la zona del euro alcanzó el 4,1% en octubre, su nivel más alto desde que comenzaron los registros en 1996 en medio de una subida de los precios de la energía. El precio del gas ya se ha triplicado en '21, incluso antes de que incremente la demanda en invierno. A pesar de ello, los precios más altos de la energía por sí solos "no empujarán al BCE a actuar".

SPANISH ECONOMY

Spain's GDP will grow at 5,7% in '21 and 6,4% in '22 (IMF Oct. WEO), with consumption, investment and employment pulling growth. Nevertheless, the recovery towards pre-pandemic levels is being less brilliant than expected in '21 with growth estimates being cut below 5%.

El PIB de España crecerá un 5,7% en '21 y un 6,4% en '22 (FMI oct. WEO), con el consumo, la inversión y el empleo impulsando el crecimiento. Sin embargo, la recuperación hacia niveles pre-pandémicos está siendo menos brillante de lo esperado en '21, con un recorte de las estimaciones de crecimiento por debajo del 5%.

The Government approves the 2022 Budget (PGE) with the highest spending ceiling in history (€196 billion). The European Funds for this year increase by 3.8% (up to €27,663 billion), allocating 85% of this amount to investments to make Spain a more competitive and sustainable country.

Spain receives the first €9bn of the NextGenerationEU funds (13% of total expected transfers until '26) that will be allocated in areas such as ecological transition, housing, education and health. A new €10bn disbursement is expected for this year and the country will receive 80% of the transfers by the end of '23.

The Spanish Treasury carries out its first green-bond issuance with a 20-Y maturity, through which raised €5bn at a lower yield than 20-Y conventional bonds thanks to the strong oversubscription. The average cost of debt continues decreasing while new issued debt costs fall into negative territory.
